

TRANSIENT LABORER BADLY HURT IN ACCIDENT HERE

NEW NAMES ARE INTRODUCED IN LEASE PROBING

Former Attorney General Palmer Will Be Summoned for Hearing.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 28.—A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General in the Wilson administration, will be called before the senate oil committee. The committee so determined before it resumed reading of additional telegrams, sent to E. B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post at Palm Beach.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, insisted that Palmer should be called, saying he had been the "go between" in the delivery of McLean's messages to the committee.

Several new names were found today by the committee when it resumed reading telegrams exchanged with Washington by E. B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post during his stay in Palm Beach.

"Underwood" Curtis, "Willis" "Eyes" and "The Duck" were among those said by McLean employees here to be among the persons that the McLean representatives had sought to identify in the matter. The committee made no effort for the present to identify these persons.

Several messages in code had reference to "apricots," "apples," "peaches" and "cherries." They were signed "The Champion" and addressed to W. F. Wiley, a McLean employee, at Palm Beach.

In telegrams read today John Major, a McLean employee here, reported to McLean that he was "busy with Underwood, Curtis and 'Zev'."

"Zev" was understood by committee members to refer to J. W. Zevely, personal counsel for Harry F. Sinclair.

Ira Bennett, editor of the Post, telegraphed McLean January 3 that he and Major saw "Curtis" who promised to see "Lenroot."

"Curtis advised me," the telegram said, "to see Underwood. We saw Underwood who promised to speak to Walsh but he hinted that it would not do any good."

Made No Identification
In placing the telegrams in the record the committee members made no announcement of identification of the persons referred to, leaving the public to draw its own conclusions.

A telegram signed "Johns" sent to McLean said "Willis saw party this morning."

"Willis" reported party in friendly mood, the message said, adding "Harry is out of city."

"Before proceeding," interrupted Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, "I desire to say Senator Underwood called a few moments ago on the telephone and said he had read something in the newspapers this morning that he had endeavored to dissuade me from my purpose to subject Mr. McLean to examination, a conclusion drawn from some of the telegrams read yesterday."

"Senator Underwood never attempted to influence my conduct in the matter in any way. I have no recollection of Senator Underwood speaking to me on the subject except that one morning in the senate chamber, he asked me if I had any objection to having inserted in the congressional record a letter to me by Mr. Palmer, and I said I had not."

Don't Recall Conversation
Senator Underwood in his conversation with me this morning said further that at the request of Mr. Bennett he had said something to me about whether we were going to ask the appearance of Mr. McLean, and that I told him that it had already been arranged that I was going to Palm Beach and take the testimony of Mr. McLean. Senator Underwood having said that that conversation had taken place, I suppose it did but I have no recollection of it at all."

The committee heard the text of a telegram sent by McLean from Palm Beach on Christmas informing Major he had a "tip" he would be called in the oil inquiry and ordering that Palmer be asked to represent him.

On December 26 McLean instructed Major to tell W. J. Lambert, his attorney, that he had asked Palmer to see the oil committee.

In another message McLean instructed Major to "keep all my wires in your possession."

On December 26, McLean sent a telegram to E. W. Starling (a secret service man) at the White House asking him to send this telegram to "Wilkins" at Hopkinsville, Ky.: "Leave at once for Palm Beach. E. B. McLean." Hopkinsville is Starling's home town.

Later Major wired McLean that "Willis is in full possession of matters."

"The Duck" Mentioned
The same message said Charles Berhans was leaving Washington for Palm Beach that night and the "the Duck" would leave later.

"My advice is," the message added, "not to acquaint latter party (the Duck) with our code system."

Bennett wired McLean on January 29 that he had seen "principal" and

DEATH KNEEL OF SLOT MACHINES SOUNDED TODAY

Mayor Palmer Insists They Must Not Do Business Here.

The death knell to slot machines in Dixon, which were classed as gambling devices rang out when Chief J. D. Van Bibber called on six down town places of business and served written notice on the proprietors, ordering the discontinuance of the machines. Some weeks ago Mayor Frank D. Palmer issued an order prohibiting the operation of the machines and many of them were banished.

Six proprietors of down town places of business continued to permit the machines to operate until yesterday when the written notice signed by Mayor Palmer was served on each of them. The machines were turned to the wall and it is reported those who have permitted their operation were almost unanimous in their expression that they favored the action, declaring the machines a nuisance to their business.

DAVENPORT MAN PAID FINE AND SETTLED DAMAGE
Squared Up with Dixon Highway Engineers for Accident.

Morrison—Pete Petroglanis of Davenport, who was the man driving the car which smashed into another one occupied by A. A. Clough and David Crawford, employed in the office of the state highway department at Dixon, on last Friday afternoon, was in this city Tuesday afternoon and straightened out his difficulty.

Petroglanis had previously been to Dixon and made a settlement with the Dixon men for the damages caused when he ran into them on the Lincoln Highway. It is reported that this cost him in the neighborhood of $250.

Inasmuch as he indicated a disposition to do the right thing at this time, Justice A. R. Baird, before whom he appeared in company with Sheriff Hamilton, released the Davenport man with a nominal fine, amounting to about $20.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IN CHICAGO HAS NO NEW COMMENT

Daugherty Makes Flying Trip in Connection with Jury Probe.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Attorney General Daugherty came here today on government business, as he stated it, appeared before the federal grand jury investigating the veterans bureau but refused to make a statement relative to the senate oil inquiry developments and on his previous statements that he would not resign.

He would not discuss the veterans bureau investigation, now apparently drawing to a close.

Brig. General C. E. Sawyer also testified before the grand jury.

Dr. Sawyer went before the grand jury shortly after arriving at the federal building.

Attorney General Daugherty also appeared before the grand jury. He was said to have been closeted with the grand jurors about 30 minutes.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Attorney General Daugherty arrived here today ostensibly in connection with the federal grand jury investigation of the Veterans Bureau. He refused to add to his previous statements relative to the oil inquiry at Washington.

That he expects to continue to hold his place in the cabinet was indicated when he stated he was here on government business and expected to remain until that business was completed.

The Attorney General said he had no public statement to make and did not know that he would have any before noon, or possibly, late in the day.

What he might say later, Mr. Daugherty indicated, probably would be in connection with the government action in the Veterans Bureau case, but he indicated that what the senate oil committee might do, or announce, would have some bearing on what he might have to say.

To Join Wife in South
Mr. Daugherty said he hoped to complete the government business promptly so that he might go direct to Miami, Florida, to join his wife who is there for her health.

He planned first to confer with Department of Justice prosecutors handling the Veterans Bureau proceedings, and then to go to the federal building where witnesses are being examined.

Brig. Gen. C. E. Sawyer, in Charge of hospitalization work in the Veterans Bureau under former Director Charles R. Forbes and formerly personal physician to the late President Harding, arrived with the Attorney General.

Dr. Sawyer, whose testimony before the senate veterans committee last year was important in the legal action, was expected to be a witness before the grand jury.

Investigation of the administration of the Veterans Bureau under Director Forbes began here on February 6, Brig. General Sawyer is understood to be the only important witness in the senate investigation who has not yet appeared before the grand jury.

The government prosecutors were unable to confirm the opinion that the mission of the Attorney General was to direct the examination of Dr. Sawyer.

Talked With Reporters
During the run into Chicago Mr. Daugherty spent several minutes with newspaper men and chatted congenially about his earlier life.

Referring casually to the proposed senate investigation of his office he said that he had received more than 3,000 telegrams during the last two days complimenting him on the stand he had taken relative to the proposed inquiry.

Asked if he intended to carry his case to the public he said he had not decided yet what he may do.

"If I do decide to carry my case to the public I am not compelled to make my first speech in Washington," he said, "I will make my first speech in Columbus, my home city."

WON'T QUIT UNDER FIRE
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 28.—Attorney General Daugherty's announced determination to remain in the cabinet for the present at least, spurred Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, to press for quick action in the senate today in his resolution calling for an investigation of Mr. Daugherty's administration.

The Attorney General left for Chicago yesterday after a last minute conference with President Coolidge. Secrecy was maintained about his plan and it was not until three hours later that a statement he had prepared was made public.

"It is my purpose," he declared "to even consider tendering my resignation as Attorney General until after a fair hearing on charges preferred against me."

May Quit Later
As soon as this investigation is completed and regardless of its outcome Mr. Daugherty will be expected to

SEAT SALE FOR ELKS SHOW TO OPEN THIS EVE

Rehearsals for Shows Next Week Nearing Conclusion.

There is a rare treat in store for the theater going public of Dixon on next Monday and Tuesday night, at the Dixon Theater when the Elks will present the greatest array of minstrelsy, musical comedy, vaudeville, fun, laughter and comedy that was ever turned loose on a community.

It's the "Jollies of 1924"—so named because it is a sure gloom chaser and built to make one laugh and forget one's troubles.

The "Jollies" is in two big beautiful acts and several scenes and embraces both minstrelsy and musical comedy. The first act is devoted to the ever-popular minstrel with a beautiful scenic setting and a gorgeous costume effect. Thirty of Dixon's most popular performers will take part in this scene and it is replete with late, up-to-the-minute songs and gags and opens and closes with specially written musical numbers.

The second act, or musical comedy portion of the show, embraces a cast of eight principals and a chorus of sixteen of Dixon's most popular young ladies who romp through a series of song and dance numbers with a complete change of wonderful costumes for each number. The Elks have promised to give the public something different this year and it would be in order to label the "Jollies" the "surprise show" for one surprise follows another in quick succession.

Rehearsals that have been going on for the past two weeks under the direction of the Joe Bren Production Company are rapidly bringing the production to a finished product and judging from all indications up to the present time, the players will be greeted with packed houses both nights. There is a reason for it too. Those who have seen the rehearsals are very enthusiastic about the show and have spread the news that those who miss it will be disappointed after it is too late. The reserved seat sale opens tonight at 7:30 p. m. at Campbell's drug store. Come early and don't be disappointed as there will be a line for seats and it is a case of first come, first serve.

Tax on Cheap Autos Cut By House Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 28.—House republicans agreed today to the Longworth compromise on surtax taxes and if the republican organization yields to a slightly lower normal rate, leaders of the group indicated they would vote to eliminate the democratic income tax schedule from the revenue bill.

Attacks on the bill were resumed today in the house with leaders pressing to conclude reading of the measure for amendments by tonight and get to a final vote tomorrow. Miscellaneous excise taxes were in order after the house voted to cut in half the five percent tax on automobile tires, accessories and parts and to exempt automobile trucks and wagons with a chassis costing $1,000 or less. Those with chassis costing more would be taxed at 3 percent.

Member of Sterling City Council Quits

Harry Trudo, member of the city council of Sterling and head of the department of health and public safety, has resigned to become effective March 1.

The resignation of Mr. Trudo came in a cablegram from Copenhagen, Denmark, to Mayor Fred W. Honens, which reads as follows: "Business takes me from Sterling. I tender my resignation effective March 1."

Commissioner Trudo left Sterling about six weeks ago with a view of investigating a proposition offered him to take a position with a firm of exporters. Upon his arrival in Denmark where he went about two weeks ago, the possibilities of the proposition appealed to him and caused him to decide to resign his official position with the city to take up the exporting work.

LEE CO. FOLK TO GET TRUTH OF SITUATION

Gov. Small and Oscar Carlstrom to Tell It Here Saturday.

Increasing interest is being manifested throughout Lee county in the announcement that Gov. Len Small, the Good Roads Governor of this state, and Oscar Carlstrom, candidate for the Republican nomination for Attorney General, would address a mass meeting of the voters of this community at the Dixon Theater Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

These gentlemen have promised to tell the truth about the political situation in the state, and because of the "smoke screen" that it is said has been thrown by the Governor's opponents in their efforts to belittle him and his work, the word of a disinterested candidate such as Mr. Carlstrom (who incidentally is past commander of the United Spanish War Veterans) is, there is no doubt the theater will hold all the voters who desire to get first-hand knowledge of political and state conditions.

Everyone is invited—and the ladies are especially urged to attend.

This morning Palmer was arraigned before Justice A. H. Hanneken in police court on a charge of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition and was fined $25 and costs.

Soon afterward he was taken in custody by Chief Van Bibber. The girls were taken to their homes in Sterling by Chief Van Bibber last night and Palmer was held.

At Hospital with Fracture of Skull; Other Auto Accidents.

Joseph Tobin, who claims Freeport as his home, is in the Dixon public hospital, suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull, which injury he sustained this morning about 9:30 when he fell from an auto truck at the intersection of Galena avenue and River street. At a late hour today he appeared to be resting as comfortably as could be expected, but was suffering intense pain.

A Ford truck, driven by Verner Moore, left the Dixon state colony shortly after 9 o'clock coming to Dixon on a short distance from the institution. Tobin was seen running across a field toward the truck and climbed on the rear end. He told some of the men who were riding on the truck he had been looking for employment at the institution and was coming to Dixon to hunt a job.

After crossing the bridge, Mr. Moore turned to the left around the traffic light and the stranger fell from the rear striking his head against the brick paving. The truck was stopped immediately and the man, who was unconscious and bleeding, was rushed to the Dixon public hospital where he was given attention.

Sought Job Here
Inquiry from Freeport by The Telegraph brought information that Tobin has left Freeport yesterday to come to Dixon in hope of finding employment at the Dixon State Colony at his trade, that of a plumber. He had been employed by the Modern Plumbing Co., of that city was about 25 years of age; unmarried; a member of the Knights of Columbus, and in Freeport his home address was said to have been 321 Nineteenth Street, Rock Island, Ill.

He was able to continue to his home, but is still suffering from the effects.

A message to The Telegraph this afternoon from Freeport stated that no such person as George Rocho was known there.

INJURED WOMAN BETTER

LIFE—I AM READY—
(From the Kansas City Star.)

Life—I am ready.
My tears are spent:
Grief is so futile.
So vain lament.
Life—I am ready:
Come whatever will:
I have met the Comforter
Out upon the hill.

Out in the clean winds
His voice I heard.
Sorrow makes one more keen
To catch His word.
"Let not your heart be troubled!"
The winds breathe it low.
And now I understand—
And now I know!

Life—I am ready.
Not baffled and dismayed.
I met Him on the highest hill,
No more am I afraid.
A heart for any fate is mine,
There were thorn prints on His brow!
And nail scars on His tender hands!
Life—I am ready now.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—The movie has yet to prove its effectiveness as a teacher of youth, judging by opinions expressed today by speakers before the department of superintendents of the National Education Association.

THAT'S USING YOUR HEAD

OUTFIELDER LOSES BALL IN SUN, BUT GETS AN ASSIST IN MOST UNUSUAL MANNER

By Billy Evans

That's using your head is a complimentary expression of the ball field when some player pulls a brilliant play, the result of quick thinking.

Never shall I forget a play that featured Bill Hogen and Bert Shotton, which was made possible by using the head, but in an entirely different manner.

Bill Hogen was playing left field for St. Louis, Bert Shotton was in center. St. Louis was playing at Washington. Left field is the sun field at the Nationals' park.

A long fly was hit to left field. Hogen called for the play and Bert Shotton went over into left field territory to back up.

After having judged the ball perfectly, Hogen lost it in the sun at the last minute. He ducked his head to prevent possible injury to his eyes. The ball struck him a glancing blow on the side of the head and curved directly into the hands of Bert Shotton, who made the catch, retiring the batter. Hogen received an assist on the play.

It was a long, high fly and it was mighty fortunate for Hogen that it struck him a glancing blow on the side of the head. At that he was badly dazed and ran around in circles in search of the ball that Shotton had caught and thrown in to the plate.

Shotton, between laughs, told Hogen what had happened. Since the ball had been caught, he forgot the other embarrassing feature of the play. Arm in arm the two players marched to the bench.

And of course to complete the situation some wag in the left field bleachers yelled:

"That's using your head, old boy."

During the first year of life the human heart beats 115 to 139 times a minute.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY HELD MEET TUESDAY

Dixon Members Attended Session in Sterling.

(By L. T. Powers.)

The Rock River Valley Horticultural society met for its February meeting and picnic dinner in the Congregational church in Sterling on Tuesday. An unusually large number of members and friends gathered for the dinner and to hear the short program which followed. Prior to the program proper, Miss Ruth Powers of Rock Falls delighted everyone with a group of whistling solos, playing her own piano accompaniment.

Shortly before 2 o'clock the meeting as called to order by the president, Keith Swarts, and the audience joined in singing a hymn. The secretary's report of the previous meeting was next in order. This was followed by a vocal duet entitled, "Ten Thousand Years From Now," sung by Mrs. W. H. Kelsey and Mrs. Edward Hollenbeck, accompanied by Miss Kadel.

Culture of House Plants.

The principal number of the program was a paper by O. W. Ecklund, proprietor of the Riverview Greenhouses of Sterling, on the topic, "Your Window Garden." In this paper Mr. Ecklund treated very comprehensively the culture and care of house plants and recommended certain varieties of plants and blooming bulbs as the most desirable for this purpose.

The secretary, Leroy Powers, gave a brief report of the convention and exhibit of the Northern Horticultural society, which was held in Moline, Dec. 3 and 4, 1923.

The subject of a public market for Sterling, which is one of the projects mentioned for consideration by the Association of Commerce, was discussed briefly by several members who brought out points both favorable and unfavorable to the project.

Motion was made by E. T. Keithley of Dixon and seconded, that a vote of appreciation be given to the speakers and the musicians who had taken part in the program.

Austin Powers offered a motion to thank the officials of the Congregational church for the use of its dining room and parlors for the occasion. Both motions were carried.

An invitation was tendered to the society by Miss Jessie Powell to hold the June meeting at the Powell home east of Sterling. This invitation was gratefully accepted.

The meeting closed with "America," sung by the audience, with Miss Lola Seavy as accompanist.

WEALTH OF ILLINOIS.

Illinois' wealth as a state has been increased 54.4 per cent since 1921 and its per capita wealth 25.4 per cent according to an estimate announced by the Department of Commerce. The total "of the state's principal forms of wealth" Dec. 31, 1922, is $22,232,794,000 compared with $15,294,970,000 in 1912. The per capita increase in values is from $2,627 to $3,295.

The figures are susceptible of various interpretations. There must be taken into account, in trying to get at the actual increase in the state's wealth, the purchasing power of the dollar in 1912 and its lesser power today. The New York Herald, points out, in its comment on the estimate for New York state, that "Wholesale prices, according to standard index numbers, have advanced an average of more than 50 per cent since that year, and at the end of 1922 were at approximately the same level as now. Retail prices and living costs have advanced since 1912 by even higher percentages."

The department's announcement of the Illinois' estimate says:

"All classes of property increased in value from 1912 to 1922, except live stock, which decreased from $386,701,000 to $319,023,000, or 17.5 per cent. The estimated value of taxed real property and improvements increased from $9,158,336,000 to $11,526,881,000, or 25.9 per cent; exempt real property from $887,983,000 to $1,041,845,000, or 17.3 per cent; farm implements and machinery from $79,474,000 to $159,557,000, or 100.8 per cent; manufacturing machinery, tools, and implements from $451,299,000 to $1,194,793,000, or 164.7 per cent; and railroads and their equipment from $942,118,000 to $1,221,143,000, or 29.6 per cent. Private owned transportation and transmission enterprises, other than railroads, increased in value from $748,713,000 to $982,000,000, or 31.2 per cent; and stocks of goods, vehicles other than motor, furniture, and clothing from $2,640,355,000 to $5,494,828,000, or 108.1 per cent. No comparison is possible for the value of motor vehicles which was estimated in 1922 at $292,664,000, because no separate estimate was made in 1912.

"In making these estimates the Department followed in general the methods employed in making the estimates for 1912, though it is believed that in some respects the work in 1922 has been more thorough. It should be borne in mind that the increases in money value are to a large extent due to the rise in prices which has taken place in recent years, and so far as that is the case they do not represent corresponding increases in the quantity of wealth."

IF YOUR RADIO IS STAGECOACH SET.

Rodger Dolan writes: "In the last month I've heard the latest in radio—neutrodyne and super-hets and all the other hifalutin' sets. It strikes me that radio is becoming too perfected and certain for real enjoyment.

"My set is antiquated, a stagecoach. I've tinkered with it and changed it so much that I don't think the best radio engineer living could tell me what sort of a set I have. But I wouldn't trade this old stagecoach for all the super-sets in the universe.

"A lot of people prefer the sets where, by logging and adjusting dials at certain numerals, they can get any station they want, at almost any time, without a lot of preliminary tuning. That pleases them, maybe because it makes them feel they have mastered the mystery of the air.

"But not for me! I prefer my old set that makes me do a lot of fishing to get anything at all. I enjoy the thrill of victory when delicate adjustments finally bring in a clear concert. And there's another thrill, of suspense, waiting for the song or orchestra to subside and then the revelation of whether the unknown station is across the continent or over in the next county."

Radio has two classes of followers—masters and fishermen. One gets the sense of power and dominion that comes with exact, certain results. The other is a gambler, subject to the laws of chance, as surely as the angler casting a fly or plug into unknown waters.

Fishing would be a dull pastime if we got a strike every time we tossed a baited line into the river or lake. There's no fishing thrill like the strike that comes after hours without any results at all. What sportsman wants to know, in advance, the size of fish he has hooked? Land him first, then learn.

Often all of us wish we could know the future—read the mysterious veil and learn what's in store for us. But how drab and unexciting life would be if the future were not unknown, uncertain and mysterious in its possibilities.

Providence is kindly to us in veiling the future. There's an adventurous thrill and alluring element of gambling when we plod ahead into the unknown.

ROW FOUR CENTURIES.

For 400 years two Italian villages have been arguing about a boundary line between the two. After four centuries, they agree to turn the deadlocked dispute over to an arbitration board and accept its decision as final.

Magnify this dispute and you have the source of many wars between nations. It should be just as easy for nations to arbitrate before war as for the two villages. And nations would, if their politicians weren't given too much power. "Diplomat" is just a camouflage name for international politician.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 11—QUEEN NANCY AND KING NICK

"What do you want?" cried the king shakily.

On went the Twins through the hall-way of the palace toward the throne room where sat their majesties, the giant king and queen of Beanstalk Land.

Everywhere the Twins went in their enormous seven-league boots, the same thing happened—servants and courtiers and ladies in waiting fled in dismay at their approach. Because the Twins were not to be seen at all and the boots appeared to be walking by themselves.

The cook fled, the pages fled, and the court ladies fled, all of his bells jingling like Santa's reindeer on Christmas Eve.

"What is the matter with everybody?" shouted the giant king angrily. "Has everybody gone crazy? Come back here, every one of you, and get to your places at once!"

Just then he spied the empty boots approaching or at least he thought they were empty and his knees began to shake, and he shivered all over until his tall crown threatened to roll off his head. And the queen did the same, shivered and shook, until her crown nearly fell off, too.

They would have run away as well as the others, but how could they—with long robes and trains and a few other things that would have tripped a circus actor in two seconds.

"Stop! What do you want?" cried the king shakily.

"Let's see things!" called out Nick as loudly as he could. "Of course the king thought it was the boot talking."

"If you will only stop where you are," begged the king, "I will give you whatever you ask."

"So shall I!" declared the queen.

MEN'S FASHIONS

I'll wear, as the fashion is dawning, A sack suit that's cut like a tent. An overcoat made like an awning Without any sign of dissent. My ties and my socks, you can spot 'em Wherever I happen to be. But—trousers that bell at the bottom? Not me!

I'm wholly a slave to my tailor, I'm fast in his terrible grip. But I won't be greeted with "Sailor, How's everything down on the ship?" Male flappers may wear 'em, don't rot 'em. As big as the trunk of a tree, But trousers that bell at the bottom—Not me!

AMUSEMENTS

WOODS THEATRE, CHICAGO

Cecil B. DeMille's mightiest offering "The Ten Commandments" is now firmly established at Woods Theatre, Chicago as the greatest success of many seasons. All box-office records have been shattered by this wonderful offering which has been called the "greatest show in the world." Every seat has been sold for every performance since the premiere and it has been found necessary to place tickets on sale four weeks in advance. Mail orders will receive prompt and careful attention.

The prices at nights and Saturday matinees are 50c, $1.00, $1.50 and daily matinees 50c, 75c and $1.00. To this should be added the war tax of 10 per cent.

Never before have the Chicago critics so enthused over a great picture. The Evening Post said: "The Ten Commandments starts you by its impressiveness and grandeur. The most wonderful photoplay production ever made. We wish every man, woman and child in Chicago could see it."

Margaret Mann Collins wrote in The Daily News: "How inadequate the poor descriptive weaklings, tremendous, stupendous, magnificent, costly, epoch-making, overwhelming seem when applied to 'The Ten Commandments'."

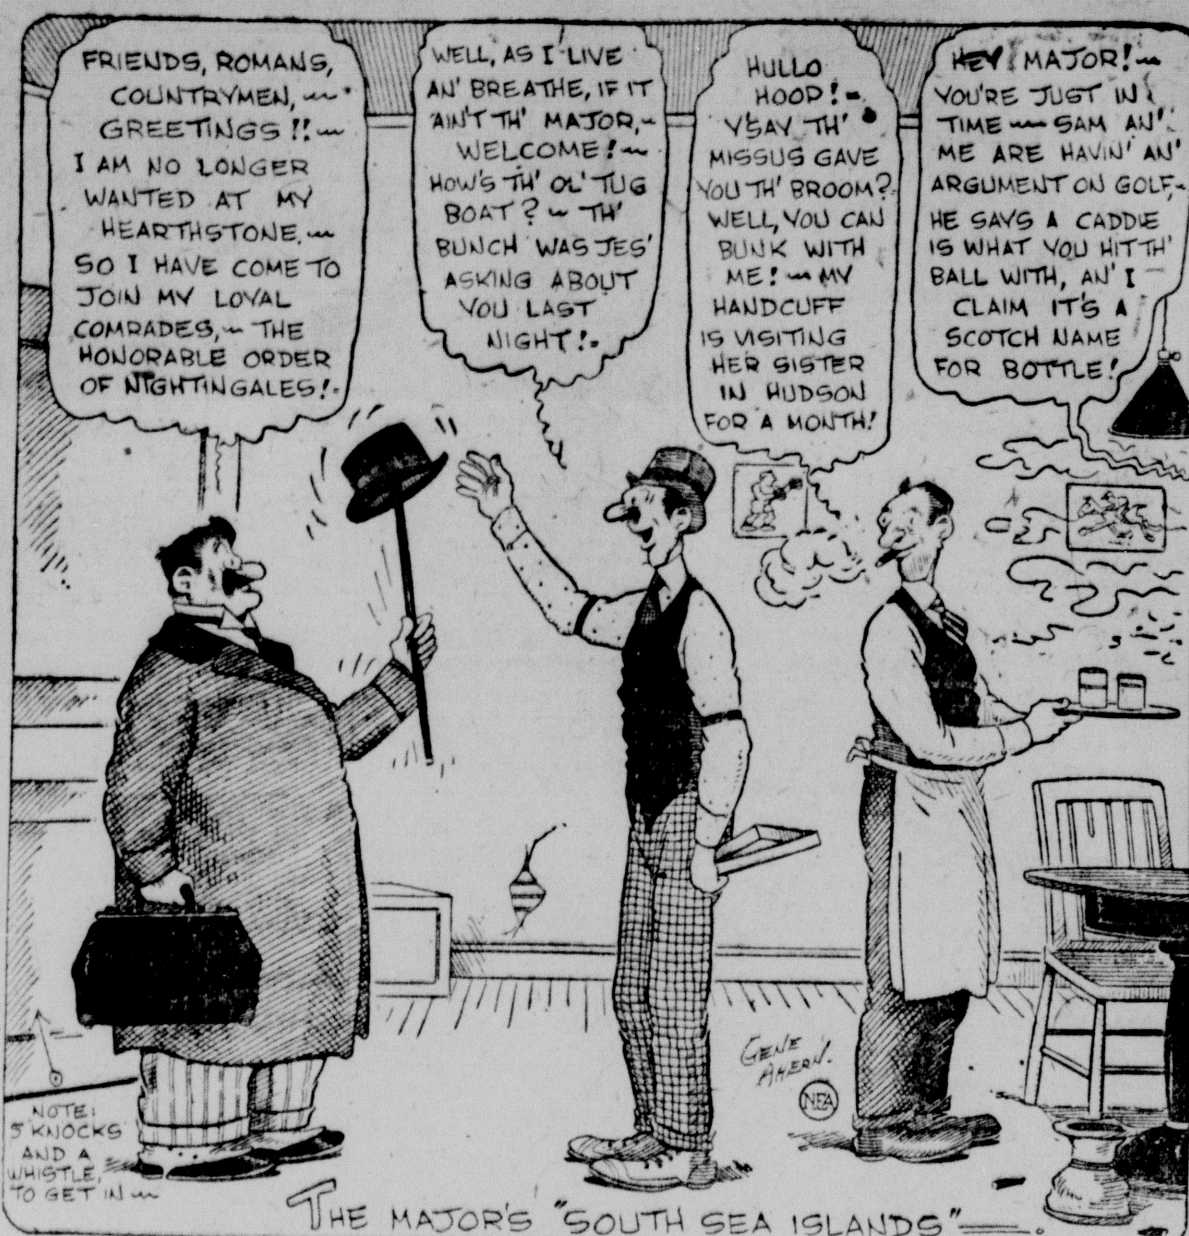

Ashton Stevens in the Herald and Examiner said: "The Ten Commandments is worth not only the money but the time."

Virginia Dale voiced her praise in the Journal as follows: "There never was a show like 'The Ten Commandments.' Exquisite excitement followed on the heels of itself. There can be no doubt that the Woods will house a great success with this production. There will be no moaning about the price. It's worth it."

Rob Reed in the American added this tribute: "If last night's capacity audience is any criterion 'The Ten Commandments' is going to capture Chicago. As yet the spectacle has not been before them the spectators burst into applause time and again."

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

Well, it's all over old man. Paula has been here and gone. She has come into my house and held her own child in her arms while I walked up and down on the other side of the street and cursed myself as I have never cursed in all my life anyone or anything.

One moment I was afraid I would see Paula coming out the door walking away with little John, the next moment I almost wished she would, anything so she would get out of my house.

Pretty soon, however, she came out and got into her car, with an inscrutable look on her face. I could not tell whether she was going to make trouble or let things lie.

It seemed hours before I could get up courage enough to go into the house but when I did Leslie met me quite as cordial as ever, telling me Paula had been there and that she would like to have had me come home before she left.

For a moment my knees trembled; then I sat down on a chair and managed to find the voice to ask what Paula said.

"She talked mostly about little Jack," she answered frankly, "and I was glad to be able to let her hold her child in her arms."

"Her child, Leslie?" I was stupid enough to inquire.

"Oh, of course, I know we have adopted it, but it is preposterous to try to make me think the child does not belong to Paula Perier."

"She did not say so?" I asked tremblingly.

"Certainly she did not. Women don't do these things."

"I thought they did. I always thought women told more of their affairs than men."

"Certainly they do not. Why yesterday afternoon, Jack, at the matinee Dick Summers told me all about his broken engagement, and if I would have let him he would have told me how much he loved Paula Perier."

"Then he's in love with Paula Perier?"

"Yes, I think he's more in love with her than Sydney Carton."

"Good heavens, Leslie, Sydney Carton was never in love with Paula."

"That's right; keep it up, Jack. You're as loyal to your friend as you ever were."

"You don't seem to dislike him either, Leslie."

"Neither do I dislike Miss Perier, Jack, and although I liked her very much on short acquaintance I tell you honestly I think I like Sydney Carton more. I never could conceive of him having a grand passion for Paula Perier."

"Let's not talk about either of them any more, Leslie. I hope this whole Perier storm is blowing over."

"Was there a storm? I didn't know it." And then, Syd, that blessed woman linked her arm in mine and said: "Come on, Jack; let's go into the nursery and see our boy."

I felt my eyes grow moist and my conscience kept saying: "You don't deserve it, you don't deserve it."

Goodby, old man, until the next (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

TOMORROW: Letter from Leslie Prescott to her husband—Visiting Jack's mother.

Prior to 1921 the death rates in Chicago, so far as the records show, were always greater than that for the down state. Since that time the rate in Chicago has consistently been lower than that for the down state and the difference is apparently growing more and more favorable to the city. In this connection the state director of public health points out that Chicago maintains an adequate and efficient public health service...

The general death rate in Illinois during 1923 was 12 per 1000 population. This makes an average of 11.4 for the three year period ending Dec. 31, 1923. Official figures indicate that this is the lowest mortality rate for any other three year period since records have been kept in the state.

THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

The headquarters of our great postal system are located in this building on Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C. Long before official reports on the condition of business in all sections of the country can be prepared and forwarded to Washington, the Post Office Department knows exactly what is going on. Prosperity is instantly reflected, to an amazing degree, in postal receipts, and urgent requests for additional carriers and clerks. Never before was the postal service called upon to perform such a tremendous task as that of the holiday season recently passed, and the rush of business has continued to the present time, indicating unprecedented national prosperity. This mammoth service is under the direction of Postmaster General Harry N. Meyer, formerly a senator from Indiana, and one of those most intimately acquainted with the late President Harding.

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES

Epworthians started on a new venture Sunday evening with their first study of the World Service of the Methodist Episcopal church.

James Andrews had charge of this discussion, the theme of which was "The Local Church at the Center." The important point emphasized was that the local church must be a center from which will radiate Christian principles not only to its own members but to every person possible to reach.

Interesting brief surveys of our city were made by several young people and reported at this meeting. The industries of the city were thought to maintain an unusually high standard.

Two-thirds of the people own their own homes—a very high percentage and one making for better civic conditions. School, library and church facilities were also reviewed. The churches were thought to be adequate but the school system below standard.

At the very least this meeting was valuable to those attending because it brought the facts of local conditions in their relation to the church before them and provoked independent thinking upon the subject.

Rev. Moore took charge of the Intermediate services Sunday night in the absence of Mrs. Powell.

Covenant cards for the thirty young folks who enrolled as comrades of the Morning Watch some time ago have been received. Each one is supposed to spend fifteen minutes daily in Bible study and prayer. This is known as the Fellowship of Intercession through prayer.

A number much enjoyed on Sunday's program was a piano duet by Miss Dorothy Randall and Miss Bernice Brooks, pupils of Louis Leydig.

Last week's Epworth Herald, the Institute number, brought many pleasant memories to local Epworthians and made them desire that the time would hasten when they could attend institute again. According to the directory 144 Institutes will be held with an approximate attendance of forty thousand young folks this year. Here the Epworthian learns of new Epworth League methods of his relation to the church, his duty as a Christian and the worldwide work of the church. In forty countries scattered over the globe he has a chance to enter Christian service and the appeal is made to him to consider the need.

The cabinet meeting for the month of March will be held at the church Wednesday night, March 5th. Each officer is urged to be present for an active spring program will be outlined at that time.

A large number of young folks will be in attendance at the Leap year party at the church tonight in charge of the Fourth department. Unusual games have been planned for the entertainment.

Velma Fay White will present the topic "Methodism in the World" at the Sunday evening devotionals. Facts concerning a world undertaking of great importance will be an outstanding feature of the meeting.

A conference of several leaders was held last Wednesday. Coming meetings were discussed and other phases of League work were brought up.

An interesting meeting was the result when a Brooklyn, New York Epworth League invited the Students' League of Many Nations to discuss "New Americans" at a service. They had over 400 in the audience. City work of the League is often very complicated by the presence of foreigners from many lands.

This picture is compared to the "Old Nest" and "Over the Hills to the Poor House" and everyone attending will have the pleasure of seeing one of the greatest films of the day.
